

Monday Session II: Questions and Answers[©]

Anonymous: Are you making your own soil mixes or are you purchasing mixes for your tissue culture plants?

Heather Winokur: We use a germinating mix.

Anonymous: On the anemones, are you taking cuttings only from the bottom-half of the root masses or the top as well?

Heather Winokur: We use both.

Anonymous: With the anemone root division, are you getting two pieces (top and bottom) or do you split the bottom further?

Heather Winokur: Each year we split them in half and take the cutting off the side throughout the year. The following year we'll cut them again.

Anonymous: When you plant the lower-half of the pot with the roots do you re-plant into a 3½-inch pot?

Heather Winokur: Right. The planting depth and the amount of soil on top will depend on the size of the root.
