

Proud Member

The International Plant Production Society

Scan here to Join IPPS International (although we recommend selecting a region and joining the regional membership)

Proud Member

The International Plant Production Society

Unmatched access to knowledge: Learn directly from growers, scientists, educators, and innovators who freely share real-world experience and research you can apply immediately.

Career-building connections: Build relationships with industry leaders and peers across nurseries, universities, public gardens, and allied fields — connections that open doors.

Hands-on learning opportunities: Tours, conferences, and workshops offer behind-the-scenes access you won't find anywhere else, from propagation to production systems.

Support for emerging professionals: Scholarships, internships, mentorship, and international exchanges help students and early-career members grow with guidance and financial support.

A global community with a family feel: IPPS is worldwide, but the Southern Region is especially welcoming — a place where you're supported, challenged, and inspired to keep learning.