

REPORT FROM THE INTERNATIONAL OFFICE – 2024 ACTIVITIES

"The mission of IPPS, with a focus on the global community of those involved in horticultural plant production, is to share knowledge, information, and skills; to provide guidance and support for lifelong career achievements; to increase recognition of the profession; and to maximize the integration of research, education, and horticultural knowledge."

In Two-Thousand Twenty-Four, IPPS experienced a slight decline in membership, with a net decrease of nine members worldwide. A significant organizational shift occurred as the Japan Region voted to dissolve meaning it will no longer be an official region starting in 2025. Despite these changes, in-person conferences and the International Tour in South Africa remained major highlights.

Two pivotal developments took place within the organization in 2024: the approval of a new name – The International Plant Production Society – and the initiation of a new website.

The transition from the “International Plant Propagators’ Society” to the “International Plant Production Society” marks a profound evolution in the organization’s mission and vision. This change is more than just a rebranding effort; it reflects the society’s commitment to a broader and more inclusive focus, encompassing all aspects of plant production.

The term “production” highlights the entire plant lifecycle, from propagation and cultivation to harvest and beyond. It embraces the interconnected processes that support sustainable and efficient plant management, allowing the society to maintain itself as a leader in addressing challenges in the industry.

The Southern Africa region hosted the International Tour, delivering a unique, exciting, and socially enriching experience for all participants. The International Board extends its deepest gratitude to everyone involved in planning and executing this exceptional event.

The return to in-person events, along with the dedicated efforts of regional secretaries and board members, contributed to maintaining membership in 2024. IPPS remains committed to building on this momentum, aiming to expand membership and continue offering outstanding events.

The Proceedings remain available in digital format on the IPPS website, with Curran Publishing managing print editions, particularly for members in North America. Additionally, Tower Marketing has been developing a new website set to launch in mid-2025. This platform will be more user-friendly, offer improved administrative functionalities, streamline the membership renewal process, and introduce numerous other enhancements.

IPPS expresses heartfelt appreciation to the International Sponsors for 2024: Ball Seed, Harrell's, Bailey's Nurseries, and Spring Meadow Nursery, as well as our North American Sponsor, BASF. Their generous support plays a crucial role in sustaining our organization, helping to mitigate the need for membership fee increases. Their contributions, along with the dedication of countless volunteers, empower IPPS to uphold its "seek and share" mission while operating efficiently and effectively.

As we celebrate the successes of 2024, IPPS remains dedicated to fostering growth, collaboration, and excellence in serving the global horticulture community. The society looks forward to a future of innovation, strengthened membership, and continued leadership in the plant production industry.

MEMBERSHIP

As of June 1, 2024 (except ERNA which is as of December 1, 2024), total paid membership declined by nine members, while student memberships dropped by 226. This reduction was likely due to two regions conducting audits and removed expired student memberships.
